Richard and Marc

Richard and Marc are a couple who currently live in Toronto, Canada. They started their MS Journey when Richard was diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis in 2015. Since navigating those early days of diagnosis, they've shared their experiences with life as a couple and how MS can impact differently to each unique situation.

Starting one of Toronto's first fashion blogs in 2009, Richard and Marc are no strangers to creating content publicly. Their work has been featured in The Toronto Star, The National Post, Lou Lou Magazine, and Flare Magazine to name a few. They took some time away from the fashion world to focus on creating a balanced life after diagnosis.
