

keynote speaker Patrycia Rzechowka

In 2012, at age 23, Patrycia Rzechowka had just graduated from University when two letters changed everything. After going blind in her left eye, Patrycia was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis. Patrycia resolved herself not to be conquered by MS. She committed to maintaining an active lifestyle and signed up for MS Bike. That first ride began her desire to volunteer to help others living with MS and she has been contributing to the cause in countless ways ever since.

Despite living daily with her own MS realities, Patrycia constantly provides support to others living with the disease, to help those who are struggling feel less alone. Patrycia shared the intimate details of her life with MS through the documentary about her story MS'ed With the Wrong Girl, released in the spring 2019 and now a full length documentary to be released this fall called Fighting Through the Fog.
